Andre:

The client indicates that:

- There never was a "RCD Performance." The screenshot logo is a clip art image from 2006 that a customer of Mr. Davis gave him.
- Mr. Davis has opened a new internet based company in Florida named RCD Performance, LLC.
- That company does not sell "offensive" devices as you can see on its site. WWW.RCDPERFORMANCE.COM

Please let me know if you need further information.

Sincerely,

Adam

adam: thanks for your voice message. we realize that the site we provided does not appear to be your client's, but the site does appear to continue to offer your client's products for sale. we want to definitively confirm whether your client has continued to sell or otherwise distribute these products under any business name or form. can you confirm this for us one way or the other?

regards -andre

adam: happy new year. after a slight delay, we are back in action.

it appears to us that your client may have changed its name and may be selling, or offering for sale, illegal parts etc..

attached (hopefully) is an example.

please confer with your client, look at your client's sites and get back to us on this.

please advise whether river city diesel performance and/or rcd performance are separate entities from river city diesel.

thanks -andre
